

HOW TO PARTNER WITH YOUR LOCAL NEWSPAPER

Lunch: Why not ask the editor to lunch to discuss collaborative possibilities?

Visit: Why not invite the editor to come to speak to your students?

Video: If you offer training, inquire as to how videos might be used on local newspaper sites.

Contests: We are doing contests inviting submissions. There are other possibilities.

Still photography: Would the paper use local, submitted photos if no compensation was required?

Writing: What types of freelance stories does the paper use?

Field trips: Visit the local newspaper.

Internships: Would they consider an internship for an outstanding high school student?

Page in Paper: Would they be open to letting you produce a page in their newspaper, if only on an annual basis?

Barriers: How can barriers be overcome in terms of submitted material?

Teacher internship: MPA offers program.

Other teachers: Tout the value of your training to other students, teachers.

Captains give Meadows nice birthday present with rally over Mott

Trailing 2-0, Kettering comes back to win in five sets

WATERFORD — Waterford Kettering's girls volleyball team appeared to be toast, as it trailed two games to zero during Tuesday's rivalry match against Waterford Mott. The Captains, however, regrouped, drawing inspiration from their senior leader, Lauren Meadows. "Tomorrow's my birthday and I told (the team) that I really wanted to win and didn't want to lose to the rival school on our home court, ... [FULL STORY]

Waterford Kettering's #10 Amanda Hensler bumps a return as teammate Hollie Connell looks on during their match against Waterford Mott at Kettering High School.
