

SUMMER ONLINE

NEWSPAPER ADVISING FOR SECONDARY TEACHERS

Take this class. While you're catching up on Mad Men.
Or sitting on the shores of Lake Michigan. Or in bed.

JRN 809, Section 730

July 1 to Aug. 18 • 3 credits

Instructor: Betsy Pollard Rau

You've discovered you love working with your newspaper students. You love how excited they get when the paper is published and they see their stories. You enjoy seeing them feel proud when they win an award. You know they are learning far more than you thought possible. You like the closeness of your staff.

But you might not be sure you are doing it quite right. And you simply want to feel more confident in your advising abilities.

Then this online newspaper advising course is for you.

And if you haven't ever had a course from Betsy Pollard Rau, now is the time. Even though this is an online course, you will get to know her really well.

This course will cover all aspects of publishing student news in print and online, including reporting, writing and editing; photography; staff organization; legal and ethical issues; design and student assessment.

The handouts you receive will be your favorites for years to come, and the online community you'll form with Betsy and other advisers will be a source of inspiration every day.

To register, go to <https://admissions.msu.edu/Apply.asp>. Questions? Call 517-884-4487 or email pell@msu.edu.

Don't need the credit, but want to take the class? For $400, you can do that. Contact pell@msu.edu.

Two $750 scholarships are available for those taking the course for credit. Email pell@msu.edu.
